ESREL 2021

Edito

Welcome to Angers.

The European Safety and Reliability Association, ESRA, and the laboratory LARIS, a research unit of the University of Angers in association with POLYTECH Angers, its engineering school, are organizing the international congress ESREL 2021. The annual ESREL (European Safety and RELiability) conference is one of the major scientific events in Europe in the fields of risk control, reliability in the broadest sense of technological, industrial and organizational systems and maintenance in all its current forms. The objective of such a congress is to bring together, in a convivial context, industrial and academic players to exchange and share points of view, knowledge, practices and methodological innovations for collaborative purposes to build the solutions of tomorrow.

France and more particularly the city of Angers through its university have been chosen for the 2021 edition. It should bring together more than 600 specialists in the field from all continents, thus making visible our activities, our know-how and our ability to innovate and collaborate.

It is also a unique opportunity to promote your company, make your activities known and exchange with other professionals and scientists. As such, we propose to associate you to this event through this joint sponsorship offer. It integrates many proposals: advertising inserts, commercial objects, sponsoring of a coffee break, a lunch or a congress bag, and also exhibition stands that will offer you a personal place of exhibition and exchange around your new tools and know-how.

The organizers,

Bruno Castanier, University Professor, LARIS Laboratory
Abdessamad Kobi, University Professor, LARIS Laboratory
Marie-Françoise Gérard, Engineer, LARIS Laboratory
University of Angers
